INDIA IS IN MIDST OF DRAMATIC CHANGE: PRESIDENT KOVIND

'Government is taking steps to overhaul the regulatory framework for higher education and the process to upgrade it to meet contemporary needs is under way'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Belagavi

PRESIDENT Ram Nath Kovind said the country is in the midst of a dramatic change and that the decisions taken today will influence not just the immediate future but perhaps the rest of the century.

"We have a young and talented population and an exciting economy brimming with opportunities. In the previous quarter, our GDP grew at 8.2 per cent and this gives an indication of our pace as well as our potential. We live in an age of technology and entrepreneurship," he said.

The government is taking steps to facilitate this and the process of overhauling the regulatory framework for higher education and upgrading it to meet contemporary needs is underway, he said, expressing confidence that it would bear fruits soon. Graded autonomy has been granted to 60 top universities. A lagavi on Saturday. Kovind said the fourth industrial revolution would herald a change in how people lived and worked.

"It is also changing the aspirations of our young people. Our educational institutions have to become compatible with this quest for innovation and excellence. They have to become compatible with the 21st century," he said.

The government is taking steps to facilitate this and the process of overhauling the regulatory framework for higher education and upgrading it to meet contemporary needs is underway, he said, expressing confidence that it would bear fruits soon. Graded autonomy has been granted to 60 top universities. A decision has also been taken to promote 20 institutions of higher education as institutes of eminence to reach best in global standards.

After a competitive process, the first few of these institutes of eminence were announced recently, he said. The educational institutions here have to merge into the economic environment and create a conducive knowledge eco-system.

"The teaching of law and the very evolution of law amid rapid technological development is critical. The time span for an innovation to take place and for its mass application is shortening very sharply. This will throw up numerous challenges for law in areas such as genetic engineering, bio-ethics and artificial intelligence among others. The legal profession has to respond quickly. I trust our leading legal minds to put their thoughts into such matters," he said.

Kovind said Belagavi city has a rich history of learning and wisdom and thousands of years ago, it was home to Jain monks who brought with them spiritualism and scholarship. In 1892, Swami Vivekananda visited Belagavi, he said.

He was told that the idea of his participation in the World Parliament of Religions in Chicago occurred to him in Belagavi, he

ror to truth, but from truth to truth, from lower to higher truth. This is so meaningful in the context of education", added Kovind.

"The law of nature teaches us discipline and orderliness. The law that humans write is the basis of civilisation. Law is not a career, it is a calling. Much, much more than a means to earn a livelihood, it is a mechanism to assist the cause of justice, to help the poorest and most unfortunate among us, and to build a society and nation defined by adherence to rules, norms and fairness," he said.

"The Constitution Babasaheb Ambedkar gave us continues to be the modern scripture of our national identity," he added.

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Belagavi: President Ram Nath Kovind on Saturday sought to assuage rising concerns over Indian economy, stating that the 8.2% GDP growth in the previous quarter is an indication of the pace and potential India holds. The President reminded that India has a young and talented population, and an exciting economy that is brimming with opportunities.

Kovind said with the time span for innovation shortening, there are numerous challenges before law in areas such as genetic engineering and artificial intelligence. "The legal profession needs to respond quickly," he said.

Attending the celebrations, CJI Dipak Misra said lawyers are social engineers. "Young lawyers showing confidence and energy are the manifestation of knowledge. Their information is neither statistical nor arithmetical, but vast knowledge," he said.

Law is not just a career, it is a calling: Ram Nath Kovind

'Advocates, judges are seekers of truth'

BELAGAVI: "Law is not a career, it is a calling. Much more than a means to earn a livelihood, it is a mechanism to assist the cause of justice, to help the poorest and most unfortunate among us and to build a society and nation defined by adherence to rules, norms and fairness", said President Ram Nath Kovind.

Speaking after inaugurating the platinum jubilee celebration of Karnataka Law Society (KLS) and Raja Lakhamgouda Law College here on Saturday, the first citizen of the country said that law of nature taught discipline and orderliness and law that humans wrote was the basis of civilisation.

He said that advocates and judges were in the ultimate analysis, seekers of truth. That was why so many lawyers were part of the national movement. Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi and the Chief Architect of our Constitution Dr B R Ambedkar were both lawyers with a spirit of public service. "The constitution that Dr Ambedkar gave us continues to be the modern scripture of our national identity", he said.

'Law, a passion'
Expressing that higher education was a subject very close to his heart and priority for his Presidency, he said that he also had practised law and for him, law was not just a profession but a passion.

Belagavi history

He said that Belagavi city had a rich history of learning and wisdom. Thousands of years ago, it was home to Jain monks who brought with them spiritualism and scholarship. In 1892, Swami Vivekananda visited the city and it is said that it was during his stay in Belagavi that the idea of attending the World Parliament of Religions in Chicago struck him. The Ganesh Chaturthi celebrations, which was developed into a national spirit during the struggle for independence by venerable Bal Gangadhar Tilak, is also associated with Belagavi. Lokmanya Tilak also inaugurated the Home Rule League here in 1916. Over the years, Belagavi had emerged as a symbol of the nation's pride. He added that Belagavi was a notable home for the country's military community, an economic asset and home to cultural and classical music traditions.

Cultures gel well

Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy said that Belagavi was a major centre for the cultures of Karnataka and Maharashtra. "We can see both the cultures gelling well in this region. The city has its own flavour and aesthetic sense. 'Grama Vastava', the village hall programme which was first-of-its-kind in the country, was also launched in Belagavi district", he said.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Dipak Misra also spoke. Governor Vajubhai Vala, Supreme Court Judges Vineet Saran, Abdul Nazeer, Attorney General of India K K Venugopal, Member of Parliament Suresh Angadi and other dignitaries were present.

Adapt to changing lives, Prez tells educational institutions

BELAGAVI, DHNS: President Ram Nath Kovind said on Saturday that we live in an age of technology and entrepreneurship.

"The Fourth Industrial Revolution is upon us. It is changing how we live and work. It is also changing aspirations of our young people and our educational institutions have to become compatible with this quest for innovation and excellence. They have to become compatible with the 21st century."

Kovind was speaking after inaugurating the platinum jubilee celebrations of the Karnataka Law Society (KLS) and Raja Lakhamgouda Law College here.

In his inaugural remarks, the President said, "our country is in the midst of dramatic changes. Decisions we take today will influence not just our immediate future, but perhaps the rest of the century. We have a young and talented population and an exciting economy, brimming with opportunities. In the previous quarter, our GDP grew at 8.2% and this gives an indication of our pace as well as our potential."

The teaching of law is very evolution, amid rapid technological developments, is critical. The time span for an innovation to take place and for its mass application in society is shortening very sharply. This will throw up numerous challenges for law in areas such as genetic engineering, biotechnology and artificial intelligence, among others. The legal profession has to respond quickly, he said and expressed confidence that our leading legal minds will put their thoughts into such matters.

Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy said it was the government's resolve to shift various departments to Belagavi, the heart and soul of North Karnataka. "We would like to reiterate that our government is development centric and our commitment towards development towards development of this region will be evident in the programmes we implement here."

He said Belagavi holds a special place in his heart too. When I was chief minister during 2006-07, our government then held the legislative session for the first time in Belagavi, resulting in the construction of the magnificent Sansad Vidhana Soudha.

Chief Justice of India Justice Dipak Misra said every member of the bar was an officer of the court and must guide

Governor Vajubhai Vala, judges of the Supreme Court Justices Vineet Saran, Abdul Nazeer, Attorney General of India K K Venugopal, Member of Parliament Suresh Angadi and other dignitaries were present.
